Marina Bank Of America Open House IsTomorrow

Completion of the new Bank of America Marina Village office, will be celebrated with an open house, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 20, according to Mrs. Billie Gene McGrew, manager.

Mrs. McGrew invited all area residents to come down and see the new facilities located at 228 Reservation Road, during Thursday evening's open house.

"There will be refreshments, souvenir gifts and some interesting banking displays," she said.

Highlight of the evening will come at 8 p.m. when J. B. Wiesler, regional vice president, presents a gold key to the manager in a traditional Bank of America ceremony. Among the civic officials on hand will be Frank Vinyard, president of the Chamber of Commerce of Marina and Warren Church, Monterey County supervisor.

Those attending the open house will also have the opportunity to register for a free all-expense paid trip for two to Hawaii.

The new office will provide full-service banking and will feature a drive-up window and a night depository.

Interior facilities will include four teller stations, safe deposit boxes and a coupon booth.

"Ample parking also will be available," Mrs. McGrew added.

The new banking facility has been open for business since Wednesday, December 12.

BUSINESS OF THE WEEK

THE SEASIDE POST & NEWS-SENTINEL, visited The Music Box Record Shop, located at 1043 Broadway, Seaside, and found some of the hard to get albums. Comprised of two entrepreneurs in the Business World, Wesley Connor and Willie Black, the Music Box Record Shop is now set up to provide the community with all of their desires in tapes, albums and accessories. Their supplies contain the very latest in Jazz, R & B, Religious and Rock, along with pop tunes. The Grand Opening will be held on Saturday, and door prizes will be given away. They include a free turkey. The drawing will be held Saturday, December 22, during the Grand Opening.

Unemployment In Slight Rise

California's unemployment rate rose from 5.2 percent in October to 5.3 percent in November, the state's public employment chief announced recently.

Dwight Geduldig, Director of the Department of Human Resources Development, said the slight increase by itself is not statistically significant. "We think it is more the result of heavy rains in early Nobember which caused a greater than normal seasonal decline in farm work, lumbering and construction. It may reflect the energy crisis to a small degree," he said, "but we won't know for sure until we see our December figures".

Geduldig said the rate is based on a mid-month survey and therefore couldn't reflect recent layoffs caused by fuel shortages.

The number of unemployed was 456,000 in November, up by 59,000 from October. A normal seasonal change would have resulted in an increase of 51,000, he said.

"We're still in better shape now than we were in the same month last year," Geduldig said. "At that time, we had 10,000 more unemployed and the rate was 5.6 percent".

Throughout 1973, the unemployment rate has averaged 5.2 percent, he added.

The number in jobs decreased by 86,000 between October and November to 8,647,500. The major declines were in farm work (78,100), which was greater than usual; manufacturing (16,900), mainly cutbacks in canning and lumber; and outdoor construction (8,600).

Offsetting these were increases in trade (14,500), reflecting normal year-end retail hirings for the holiday season; and government (12,600), mostly in school employment.

However, compared with a year ago, employment was up by 261,100 (3.1 percent), Geduldig noted. Manufacturing led the gain with an increase of 80,200 or 5.1 percent. In the service industries, 59,700 workers were added over the year and trade employment increased by 52,500. Government employment was up by 25,600, he said.

Be Careful WarnsState

Consumers frightened by the prospect of running out of gas might be tempted to buy gasoline additives which promise more miles to the gallon.

The Department of Consumer Affairs warns California consumers to beware of unscrupulous companies that might be trying to take advantage of the present fuel crisis by offering products purporting to increase gasoline mileage. Increased cost might be the only thing added to your gasoline bill.

If you are contemplating buying a product in this area, why not check with your service station attendant or automobile dealer and ask him what he thinks?

But if you just cannot resist the temptation to buy the product, try one and check to see if you do in fact get better mileage.

Close Watch To Be Kept On Offshore Drilling

New offshore drilling along the coast will not greatly increase oil production in California, but it will mean more intensive inspection of drilling activities by the California Division of Oil and Gas.

John F. Matthews, Jr., state oil and gas supervisor, said that his organization will not only continue its program of aerial surveillance of offshore wells and platforms but also it spresent on-site inspection program.

"We'll probably bring in four petroleum engineers to monitor the new drilling activities," Matthews said. "And we'll have new, more stringent regulations for offshore wells.

"There has never been a serious spill or blowout of the more than 1300 wells that are under state jurisdiction, and we certainly don't intend to mar this record now."

The Santa Barbara channel spill, Matthews pointed out, happened in waters under federal control.

Matthews also said that the new development drilling from existing platforms will not materially increase the state's oil production.

"Our estimate," he said, "is that an additional 10,000 barrels per day will be produced within six months, but that isn't much when you compare it with the total state production of 900,000 barrels a day."

Medi-Cal Dental Health Plan Goes Into Effect On January 1, 1974

The nation's most comprehensive dental care program, with a special emphasis on children's services, will begin serving more than two million Medi-Cal beneficiaries January 1, 1974, California Health and Welfare Secretary Earl Brian announced recently.

California Dental Service (CDS), largest dental prepayment carrier in the U.S., will administer the delivery of dental care to welfare recipients and payment of $58 million in annual reimbursements to some 12,000 participating dentists.

"The State of California is pleased to provide the most comprehensive dental coverage offered anywhere in the United States," Brian said. "In effect, we are purchasing a group insurance policy from CDS to provide complete dental care for Medi-Cal beneficiaries. But, more than providing just corrective dental care, we are also stressing preventive dental programs for children by reimbursing dentists at a more liberal rate for such services. Not only are we encouraging better dental health practices among young people, we will also be avoiding more costly corrective dental work in the future."

Brian noted that this cost-avoidance benefits both the individual and the state's taxpayers.

Medi-Cal, the state-federal health care program (Medicaid in other states) for the state's low income population, provides medical and dental care for 2.4 million beneficiaries. The new CDS program will serve all but about 400,000 who are enrolled in other pilot projects or in prepaid health plans that provide dental health care.

The 12,000 CDS members comprise virtually all of the state's practicing dentists. California has negotiated a four-year agreement with CDS; although, as a pilot project, the contract must be reviewed and renewed annually.

Brian said: "The state approved this contract, and CDS has undertaken this large-scale program, with the endorsement and support of the California Dental Association. Its high professional standards will insure the Medi-Cal beneficiaries receive quality dental care."

Dr. Burton Press, president of the California Dental Association, commented:

"The opportunity for private enterprise, in cooperation with our own professional association, to administer a government program with a high level of quality care and fiscal responsibility sets a precedent for the other 49 states to follow."

California Dental Service, a non-profit corporation which currently provides dental benefits to organized groups, late in 1972 brought its proposal to the former State Department of Health Care Services, administrator of the Medi-Cal program. After months of extensive study and negotiation, a contract was signed with the newly organized California Department of Health.

The agreement stipulates that CDS will receive billing and reimburse all participating profiders of dental services to Medi-Cal beneficiaries. It will also familiarize participating dentists with Medi-Cal regulations, act as an information source, and provide liaison with the California Dental Association.

California Dental Service will receive funds from the state on a prepaid basis rather than after services have been rendered, Brian said. The agreement is written as a shared risk contract.

Rates have been established and funds will be paid monthly in advance, based on the number of persons eligible for the service. CDS will then reimburse all individual providers for the work they perform each month.

The contract is unique, Brian said, because the dental profession, CDS and the state will share re-

Legislative Intern Applications Are Now Available

Assemblyman Bob Wood (R-Monterey County) has announced that application forms are now being accepted for the legislative internship program in Sacramento. This State Assembly sponsored programs allows eight graduating senior college or graduate students, to work for a ten-month period in the Legislature in Sacramento. The internship would begin in December of 1974 and continue until September 1975, and a monthly stipend of $682.50 per month will be provided for the student.

Wood said, "this is a tremendous opportunity for a young person interested in government to learn about the Legislature with first hand experience. Each intern is usually assigned to one of the standing committees in the Assembly and are involved in the making of new state laws".

Although the internship program does not begin for another year, applications must be submitted to the Assembly before February 28, 1974, so that the selection process by a panel of legislative and education oriented persons can be done carefully. Competition for these internship programs has been exceptionally keen in past years because of the excellent training ground this service provides for careers in teaching, journalism, law or government service. Wood said that "of the 176 interns through this program, 61 have turned right around and found permanent employment with the Legislature".

The Monterey County Assemblyman said that application forms are available at his District Office in Salinas, 32 East Alisal Street, or by calling there, at 424-1703. From the Monterey Peninsula, call toll free Enterprise 15756.

Seaside Pharmacy Is GiftAmerica Dealer

A Seaside-area merchant is part of a new nationwide gift-giving system that makes it possible to have a gift delivered almost anywhere in the country within hours.

The system is operated by GiftAmerica, subsidiary of the Western Union Corporation. Deliveries are made through the network of 5,500 GiftAmerica dealers across the nation, and purchases can be charged to most major credit cards.

Gifts, which are on display at GiftAmerica stores, range in price from $15 to $45. The local dealer relays all orders to GiftAmerica's computerized service center in St. Louis, Mo., which in turn, contacts the dealer nearest the recipient's home.

Customers who can't visit a dealer may call a toll-free number -- 800-342-5777 -- to order from GiftAmerica directly.

The gift line is displayed at all participating local dealers. The Seaside-area GiftAmerica dealer is Seaside Pharmacy, 1250 Fremont Boulevard.

OMBE Transferred To Cal-Job Board

Transfer of the State Office of Minority Business Enterprise (OMBE) from the State Economic Opportunity -office to the Cal-Job Executive Board in the Health and -welfare Agency has been completed, Health and Welfare Secretary Earl Brian announced.

He also announced the appointment of John B. Garcia, 38, as project director for OMBE.

"The inclusion of OMBE in Cal-Job, coupled with the recent pasaage of the California Job Creation Act, SB 387, gives us added capability to significantly aid economically disadvantaged areas by stimulating employment and assisting small business," Brian said. "With little more than $500,000 in funding, over the past four years, Cal-Job has provided management and technical assistance to more than 1,300 small firms, has created or retained over 3,100 jobs, and assisted businessmen in acquiring over $10 million in loans.

"The California Job Creation Act, authored by Senator George Deukmajan (R-L.A.) and Assemblyman Ken Maddy (R-Fresno) will expand these efforts by providing $5 million in loan guarantees over the next 2 1/ 2 years for small businesses which will make over $30 million in loans available. We are pleased to have OMBE join this effort and broaden our effectiveness," -brian said.

OMBE is jointly financed by the state and the U.S. Department of Commerce, with the responsibility to develop and stimulate minority businesses of California.

Brian said that OMBE's primary focus will be in procurement, assisting minority businessmen in competing for government contracts at the local, state and federal level.

OMBE will also provide technical assistance, education and training to make minority businessmen more competitive while contributing to the overall economic condition of minority communities, Brian explained.

The move to Cal-Job was made, Brian said, because of the similarity of functions between Cal-Job and OMBE. Cal-Job, under the leadership of Louis -carter, executive director, is a unique California operation which guarantees portions of high-risk loans to business entrepreneurs to stimulate employment. The loans are extended by Cal-Job Regional Development Corporations in San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego. Twelve major private banks provide risk capital for loans made by the three corporations.

Another aspect of Cal-Job is the state Small Business Assistance Program, which provides technical and management assistance to small businesses in economically disadvantaged areas through contracts with nonprofit management and consultant firms.

Messrs. Daval and Corner will travel to Pasadena, where they will perform in Tournament of Roses Parade to be telecast on NBC and CBS New Year's Day. The young musicians are among 102 top high school musicians from each state and District of Columbia who were selected for All-American -band, which is sponsored annually by McDonald's restaurant chain.

sponsibility for providing quality dental care within a predetermined payment limit. CDS plans to improve certain services and reimbursement procedures. However, the CDS plan will be less restrictive than the existing Medi-Cal dental program.

Brian said participating dentists will be able to offer a somewhat expanded program, especially in children's dental care. Fewer forms will reduce paperwork, and fewer procedures will require special authorization prior to treatment. Such prior authorization will be handled by CDS, as will any grievances from participating dentists and beneficiaries, he said.

Eligible Medi-Cal beneficiaries will join 2.2 million private patients in California who are covered under more than 1,200 plans currently administered by CDS. Medi-Cal patients will continue to visit the dentist of their choice, using their Medi-Cal cards to obtain needed care.

Quality of care given to Medi-Cal patients under the new plan will be monitored closely by the Department of Health, Brian said. The Department's review will include post treatment screening and random claim evaluations to verify the need for care and quality of services provided.

In addition, Brian said, CDS will rely upon "peer review" evaluations by local dental societies to assure that procedures and services are consistent with the standards of dentistry practiced in the community.

Clarence E. Gerstenberger, DDS is president of the California Dental Service. Gene Dixon, DDS is vice president and administrator. Administrative offices are located in San Francisco.

Profits Not High For Many Day Care Centers

Statistics indicate a steadily growing demand for private day care facilities in the U.S. But that doesn't assure success for the businessman entering the field with visions of high profits and low overhead, according to a new Bank of America report.

The reverse is more often the case -- the overhead is high and the profits are low -- the bank says in the latest issue of its Small Business Reporter.

"One should give up dreams of accumulating a fortune," one experienced day care operator warns. "It is difficult enough just to make a good living."

Starting costs are high, because the day care owner must comply with strict licensing requirements for the physical plant; operating expenses, particularly salaries and food, are also high; and the human cost is great -- often 10 to 12 hour days.

The major reward, the report points out, is not financial. Rather it is the immerasurable reward derived from working with children and watching their development.

But the field remains open to private individuals because of the widening gap between supply and demand. In 1972 California had one million preschoolers whose mothers worked, with only 140,000 spaces for them in in day care centers.

Nonprofit centers, under either government or private auspices, handle some 90,000 of those children, while the remaining 50,000 youngsters attend proprietary centers, run for profit, catering to middle and upper income families. The businessman should note, however, that in spite of this obvious need for more facilities, the road to success is neither short nor easy.

As I See It

by Mel Vercoe

By Mel Vercoe

The energy crisis is probably about half real and half phony. There is not much question about the half that is real. When present day Russia was trying to get on its feet during the 1920s, after bumping off the Czars, it presumed to be a communist type of government, which scared the Sam Hill out of us capitalist Americans, so we did everything possible to make them fail in their aims. We delayed them considerably, but they managed to survive, and the fact that present day Russia is more of a military dictatorship than a socialist or communistic government, seems to have been lost in the shuffle. What ever they are it begins to look as though the earth is not large enough for both the Russians and the Americans at the same time.

It appears, too, that they have long memories, and are getting special delight out of watching us squirm for lack of oil from the Middle East. From their position of control over a critical portion of the oil supply, the Russians have it in their power to destroy Japan, Western Europe and the United States, as industrial competitors, either singly or together. It is significant that they have decided to destroy us together, at the same time, or are at least demonstrating how easily they can do it, any time they wish.

We could, of course, make the required deal with the Arabs and throw Israel to the wolves, but this would not likely be a long range solution. Without the balancing presence of Israel, we would not only still be subject to blackmail, at the whim of the Arabs, but we would lose any foothold in the Middle East, that we might someday need, if the oil shortage reached such a desperate point that a direct military confrontation becomes as acceptable risk, rather than lose America by economic disaster. At any rate, I consider such an alternative, at least as idiotic as the fact that we allowed ourselves to become so totally subjugated to our traditional Russian enemy through our dependence upon their unknowing servants, the Arabs.

Any day now, I expect to see our government install thousands of windmills (probably made in Japan) all over our countryside, each one hooked up to a generator feeding electricity into a master grid. This power could be used during periods of friendly winds, and during heavy winds, when the electricity generated would exceed demand, the power could be used to run pumps that would return water up behind power dams, so it could be used again to run already established hydroelectric plants. Ocean water could do just as well, and windmills along our seashores could pump sea water to sea water lakes, high in the coast ranges, from which it could then furnish more hydroelectric power.

All of which has been presented in an attempt to get the average reader to try to think up additional ways to get power, because if we are to survive, seriously, we are going to need every idea we can get. Then, too, imagine the fun of fishing in a salt water river, high up in the mountains.

Bob Wood Reports

I know it sounds way out, but someday one of our economy by-products may become increasingly important in the years to come. This by-product, as funny as it may sound, is garbage and waste material.

A number of techniques are now being tested which may contribute to a solution to the energy shortage. One of these processes incinerates solid and liquid waste. The hot gases which result from the burning of waste are purified and sent through turbine blades. The turbines drive generators, producing electricity.

A prototype of this process has been built by a company in the San Francisco Bay Area. A large scale unit may process 400 to 500 tons of garbage per day, generating nearly 15,000 kilowatts of electrical power. With this type of energy output, such a plant could generate enough electricity for about 900 homes a month.

The City of Palo Alto is considering the construction of such a plant. California produces no shortages of raw material when it comes to garbage and solid waste our communities and industries produce over 75 million tons of solid waste annually. This amounts to a total of over 20 pounds of waste per person, per day.

Over the next 30 years, California must dispose of, or reuse, a total of 2.5 billion tons of solid waste. This is enough to cover three thousand square miles to a depth of five feet.

State Gets Federal Funds

State Senator George R. Moscone has announced the approval of $2.1 million in federal funds to provide nutrition supplements to 20,000 pregnant women and infants in California.

Moscone, Chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Nutrition and Human Needs, first carried legislation to benefit pregnant women in 1970, and participated in a law suit which released $40 million at the federal level to fund these projects.

"It is absurd that we have to bring suit to get released for use funds which congress has appropriated. It certainly underlines the low priority which Nixon has given to domestic programs which benefit people," he said.

"Congress recognized this when it created this special program. The Nixon Administration, in refusing to release funds until ordered to do so by the courts, made a definite statement disavowing the benefits of preventive, positive health programs," added Senator Moscone.

Moscone stated that California had applied for funds for 44 project sites but received funding for only 18. Notably absent were project grants to the major urban areas of San Francisco, Oakland and Los Angeles.

"I am taking further action to ensure that high-risk mothers and infants in these areas will also benefit from the program," concluded the Senator.

Has Action LineSystem

When a member of the U.S. Coast Guard in northern California has a problem, he can now go right to the top. The 12th Coast Guard District has recently installed an "Action Line", a two-way telephone communication system that funnels questions to the best source for an answer.

Utilizing an automatic telephone answering/message recorder, the Action Line can be called 24 hours a day by Coast Guardsmen with questions, problems or ideas. Each day the tape-recorded messages are monitored, summarized and sent to the appropriate office for action. Response to the calls is made within 24 hours.

Lieutenant E. C. Cooke, coordinator of the project, commented, "Action Line is intended to provide personnel with a means of making suggestions, asking questions and airing complaints when they aren't sure of whom to contact or feel that they haven't been given the right response on the local level."

As well as the District-wide Action Line, some individual units, such as the Coast Guard Training Center at Alameda, have their own programs. The Alameda Action Line has been in operation for a year and has proven to be highly effective in improving unit morale.

"I'll call Uncle Mort during the soup... you call Grandma between the salad and the giblets..."

Make more of your holiday calls early, and make Christmas more of a holiday.

You have lots of time to make lots of those long distance "Merry Christmas" calls beforehand.
Like the weekend before, when long distance rates to other states are even lower than on Christmas day. For example, on Sunday between 8 AM and 5 PM, an 8-minute call from anywhere in California to anywhere back East would be only $1.70 plus tax. And the phone lines aren't so busy. The chart at the right can help you figure the cost of a call.
Calling people you care about at Christmas is one of the things people like about Christmas. You may like it even more if you spread it out a little.

Pacific Telephone

	SAT. 8 AM–11 PM SUN. 8 AM–5 PM	SUNDAY EVENING 5 PM–11 PM CHRISTMAS EVE 5 PM–11 PM CHRISTMAS DAY 8 AM–11 PM
3 MINUTE CALL FROM ANYWHERE IN CALIFORNIA TO ANY OTHER STATE*	70¢ OR LESS	85¢ OR LESS
EACH EXTRA MINUTE	20¢ OR LESS	25¢ OR LESS

*Rates on long-distance calls within California are attractive, too. Check the front pages of your phone book.
Rates shown do not include tax and do not apply to Hawaii or Alaska, to person, collect, credit card, hotel guest calls, calls charged to another number, or calls over 40 miles placed from coin phones.

Dial direct rates do apply on Operator-assisted station-to-station calls placed from communities where long distance calls cannot be dialed direct.
Calls placed on Monday, Dec. 24, between 8 AM and 5 PM, will be at regular weekday rates.
